

2016 Spring Course Offerings
Classical Studies
Professor Barbara Pavlock, Director

Declaration forms are available in the Office of Interdisciplinary Programs: 31 Williams Hall, Suite 101

CLSS, HIST 022-10 Roman History (SS) 4 credits

Rome from its origins to A.D. 476. Political, social and religious developments. Transformation of the late Roman Empire to the early medieval period. Professor Clark
M, W, F; 10:10 - 11:00 a.m.

CLSS, ENG 050-10 Mythology (HU) 4 credits

Introduction to the study of the Greco-Roman myths in their social, political, and historical contexts. Emphasis on myths and their analysis as important evidence for studying classical antiquity. Professor Pavlock
M, W; 12:45 - 2:00 p.m.

CLSS, ANTH 112-10 Doing Archaeology (SS) 4 credits

Principles of archaeological method and theory. Excavation and survey methods, artifact analysis, dating techniques, and cultural reconstruction. Course includes field project. Professor Wesson
T, R; 1:10 - 2:25 p.m.

CLSS 171-10 Independent Study (ND) 1-4 credits

Instructor permission required. Professor Pavlock

CLSS, PHIL 232-10 Figures/Themes in Hellenistic Philosophy (HU) 4 credits

This seminar will involve an in-depth focus upon a major movement in Hellenistic philosophy (roughly 4th century B.C.E. to the second century C.E.), such as Epicureanism, Stoicism, ancient skepticism, or Neoplatonism, or the Hellenistic treatment of a particular theme (e.g., freedom from anxiety, the nature of the cosmos and our place within it, or human nature). Content varies. May be repeated more than once for credit. Prerequisite: One HU designated course in Philosophy. Professor Mendelson
T, R; 9:20 - 10:35 a.m.

LAT 002-10 Elementary Latin II (Spring) (HU) 4 credits

Continuation of grammar, easy Latin prose and poetry. Students should have completed one semester of elementary Latin or the equivalent. Professor Pavlock
M, W, F; 10:10 - 11:00 a.m.

LAT 012-10 Intermediate Latin (Spring) (HU) 4 credits

Readings in Latin prose or poetry. Consolidation of reading ability; introduction to literary analysis. Students should have completed two semesters of elementary Latin or the equivalent. Professor Pavlock
M, W, F; 11:10 - 12:00 p.m.

LAT 171-10 Independent Study (HU) 1-4 credits

Instructor permission required. Professor Pavlock

LAT 195-10 Latin in the Age of Caesar (HU) 1-4 credits

This course will examine the way Latin writers of the late Roman republic viewed momentous events of the era, in particular the conspiracy of Catiline to destroy the government and the civil war that arose from the power struggles of the great generals Caesar and Pompey. We will focus on Sallust's and Julius Caesar's accounts of these events, analyzing the biases underlying the positions they take. Professor Pavlock
M, W, F; 11:10 - 12:00 p.m.

GRK 171-10 Independent Study (HU) 1-4 credits

Instructor permission required. Professor Pavlock